PRESIDENT'S VISIT TO RALEIGH.

Last Thursday was a great day for North Carolina and especially for the city of Raleigh. Under any circumstances a visit by the Chief Magistrate of eighty millions of people would be a great occasion for a town the size of Raleigh, and a State situated as North Carolina is today. But when it is remembered that he was made their chief by a larger vote than ever was given a candidate for that high office, and has grown steadily greater in the estimation of his people without regard to section or political predilection; and when it is remembered that by the admission of earth's greatest rulers abroad he is incomparably the greatest of all the great men of his age, it is no wonder that Raleigh and North Carolina felt flattered to have him with them. That he could be so distinguished and honored, so powerful and so popular, and yet be as simple as a child—seemed paradoxical to many. That the first lady of the land could be a plain, simple, motherly woman with no flourish of tinsel and jewels, or display of frills and furbelows, seemed no less surprising to some of our best people; and yet the correct and common-sense thing was said and done in every instance as might have been expected.

Aside from his sturdy honesty, which crops out in every sentence he utters, and his lofty statesmanship, which marks his every move in diplomacy, the President wears the unmistakable emblems of good fellowship which captivate; and people feel irresistibly drawn to him. The reception given him in Raleigh was cordial and wholehearted—not vociferous or hysterical as is seen under the excitement of a campaign where friends of rival speakers overstep the bounds of propriety in order to offset or outdo the other crowd, but a quiet, dignified, hearty old-time welcome, which appeared to be sincere.

The President talked of North Carolina's honorable part in the history of the country and encouraged her people to press forward to greater achievements and a higher life and broader citizenship.

He urged the importance of preserving our native forests in which he stated a truism that should be committed to memory by young people and kept ever in mind. "The prime difference," said the President, "between civilized and uncivilized peoples is that in civilized peoples each generation works not only for its own well-being, but for the well-being of generations yet unborn, and if we permit the natural resources of this land to be destroyed so that we hand over to our children a heritage diminished in value we thereby prove our unfitness to stand in the forefront of civilized peoples. One of the greatest of these heritages is our forest wealth."

A large portion of his speech was devoted to the subject of rate regulation. He pointed out the effects of rebate giving and favored a commission to have supervision over the matter of rate-making by railroads. He said, in part: "I wish the Commission to have power as a matter of right, not as a matter of favor, to make a full and exhaustive investigation of the receipts and expenditures of the railroads, so that any violation or evasion of the law may be detected. This is not a revolutionary proposal on my part, for I only wish the same power given in reference to railroads that is now exercised as a matter of course by the national bank examiners as regards national banks." The American people abhor a sham, and with this abhorrence I cordially sympathize.

 When I say a square deal I mean a square deal; exactly as much a square deal for the rich man as for the poor man, but no more. Let each stand on his merits, receive what is due him, and be judged according to his deserts. To more he is not entitled, and less he shall not have."

WHO'S RESPONSIBLE FOR THE GREAT INCREASE IN CRIMES IN THIS STATE?

Two features were prominent in the news last week—domestic troubles and shooting human beings for game. In Wake an old man shot his son-in-law; in Catawba a father-in-law and a son-in-law had a serious battle; in Wilmington a man killed his mother-in-law; in Elizabeth City a negro seriously, if not fatally, wounded his wife—and there may have been others. In Edgecombe county a prominent citizen was shot and killed by a hunter who says he thought the man was a squirrel; in Anson county one citizen filled the hide of another full of shot, claiming that he thought that he was shooting at a turkey. These last incidents are evidence that the hunting season is on, but why an epidemic of family disturbances broke out at this time is not clear.—Statesville Landmark (Democratic).

The Landmark has a very large list of fatalities that have occurred in this State recently, but its list is not complete. Even since the above was written there have been several shooting escapades in the State. Even in this city there were two shooting affairs Saturday. In one, two men were wounded and another man killed; in the second shooting escape several shots were exchanged but no one killed.

Crime was never so rampant in this State as it has been during the past few years under democratic "good government." And still it is not clear to the Statesville Landmark why crime is on the increase in this State; but if the Republicans had charge of the State government the Landmark and other democratic papers in the State would know right away that the great increase in crime was due to Republican mismanagement and incompetence. When the Fusionists were in control of the State government the democratic papers charged them up with every crime committed. But since the democrats have been in power for six years, they are now at a loss to account for the great number of crimes being committed in this State.

If the Fusionists were responsible for the crimes committed during their rule aren't the democratic papers and pie brigade responsible for the great increase in crimes in this State under democratic "good government"?

These democratic politicians who, during the campaign, were clamoring for self-government in the Philippines should read the following from President Roosevelt's speech in Raleigh last Thursday:

"Self-government is not an easy thing. Only those communities are fit for it in which the average individual practices the virtue of self-command, of self-restraint, of wise disinterestedness combined with wise self-interest; where the individual possesses common sense, honesty and courage."

The Raleigh dispensary on last Wednesday and Thursday took in over $4,000 for liquors and beer, notwithstanding that the dispensary closed on Thursday noon for the day. There may be some temperance in the above figures, but it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to ferret it out.

Some one has asked what Mr. Bryan was doing on his tour of the Eastern Continent?

Why, he is talking, of course.

The Gifts to Miss Alice Roosevelt. It is said that the gifts of Miss Roosevelt, which were presented to her by crown heads and rulers of nations and tribes on her trip to the Old Country, amount to something like $100,000, and that the customs duty on them will be more than the President's salary for a year. This sounds exaggerated, but if it be true Miss Alice will no doubt feel that they have imposed a great hardship upon her by these gifts. It is understood that the gifts were not on Miss Roosevelt's personality but were bestowed upon her as the daughter of the Chief Executive of the nation, and in that view of the matter the nation should be proud of the gifts, and Congress should see to it that they are landed without any great embarrassment to Miss Roosevelt, the nominal recipient of them.—Union Republican.

A Large Blockade Distillery Captured. Daily Industrial News. Robersonville, N. C., Oct. 21.—Deputy Collectors R. J. Lewis and M. L. Wood captured a 110-gallon copper still in Pitt county, eleven miles southwest from this point, on lands of unknown parties. It seemed that these officers had made two attempts prior to this time to capture this plant. They would find the "nest" warm, but the bird had flown. This time they came upon it in a dense Pitt county jungle, where it had just apparently, set up for large operations.

FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Some Squibs of Interest we have Gathered with our paste-pot and Shears.

Col. Watterson insists that there has been a remarkable change in President Roosevelt. It's either that or there has been a remarkable change in Col. Watterson.—Washington Post.

When the Cleveland delegation of citizens called on John D. Rockefeller the other day he counselled them to turn "their thoughts to higher things." The price of Standard Oil went up the next day.—Graham Tribune.

Now and then we notice a weakly clamor for local self-government and for a voice in certain affairs. The politicians in this State are in charge, and they will never give up without a fight. Politicians are politicians, you know.—Raleigh Enterprise.

The scarcity of Republicans on the reception committee to receive the President has caused considerable comment here. It has been suggested that there has been a big change in politics since the last election, and the tenderfeet were put on the committee instead of the old-timers.—Raleigh Enterprise.

It Pays to Advertise. A Chatham county widower is anxious to get married, and it is said that he has tacked up a sign on a tree in front of his house. Nothing succeeds like advertising. He will get a wife.—Raleigh Enterprise.

Winston as a Tobacco Market.

Over 31,000,000 pounds of tobacco are manufactured here a year, and 18,000,000 pounds of leaf tobacco are sold on the Winston market each year. This means that some 13,000,000 pounds of leaf tobacco are bought by our local manufacturers on other markets and brought here; and it also means that Winston is the best tobacco market in this section.—Union Republican.

Groom 84; Bride 73 Married at the Poor House.

In Rowan county home the past week Joe McDaniel and Miss Lou Dawson were married. The age of the groom was 84 and the bride 73 years. Both of the parties are inmates of the county home. They threatened to elope and the county commissioners decided by a vote of 4 to 1 to let the ceremony take place and attended the nuptials in a body. The bridal tour composed a trip to Salisbury and a ride on the street cars.—Union Republican.

A Substitute For Brick.

The cement paving and building block works have begun operations near the old Salem water mill. It is our opinion that this cement and sand combination will soon take the place of brick. They are as serviceable, more uniform in color and can be made and sold at a cheaper rate. The work of this new industry will be watched with interest. With lumber getting scarce and high and brick at top notch prices, this new substitute comes to the front at a most opportune time.—Union Republican.

The Difference.

If Judge Boyd ever loses out with the government the State could not do better than by putting him on the bench, even if he is a Republican.—Lumberton Argus.

Why, certainly. When Judge Boyd was after Democrats for stealing he was an awfully bad man, and a Democratic legislature actually appropriated money to have them defended in the United States court over which Judge Boyd presides. Now that indictments are pending in court against certain Republican office holders for alleged wrong doing, Judge Boyd receives the applause of our good Democratic brethren. Why, of course. Do you see the difference in the Morning?—North State.

Every Heart-Ache

Every pain in the breast, difficult breathing, palpitation, fluttering or dizzy spell means that your heart is straining itself in its effort to keep in motion. This is dangerous.

Some sudden strain from over-exertion or excitement will completely exhaust the nerves, or rupture the walls or arteries of the heart, and it will stop.

Relieve this terrible strain at once with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. It invigorates and strengthens the heart nerves and muscles, stimulates the heart action, and relieves the pain and misery.

Take no chances; make your heart strong and vigorous with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure.

"I suffered terribly with heart disease. I have been treated by different physicians for my trouble without results. I went to a physician in Memphis, who claimed that I had dropsy of the heart. He put the X-ray on me, and in connection with his medicine he came near making a finish of me. Some time before this a Mr. Young, of St. Louis, was in our town. He saw my condition, and recommended Dr. Miles' Heart Cure to me. I gave it little attention until my return from Memphis, when I concluded to try it, and am pleased to say three bottles cured me."

CHARLES GOODRICH, Caruthersville, Mo. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

A Unique Distillery.

A novel blockade distillery was seized Tuesday near the line of Knobs and Buck Shoal township, in Yadkin county. The still consisted of an iron wash pot with another pot for the cap. One of the legs was out of the cap and here they attached a kind of worm, using an oil can for a condenser. It is said that it was being operated by two small boys, 12 or 14 years old, and that they made about a pint at a run.—Elkin Times.

EDITOR WATTERSON PRAISES ROOSEVELT.

Declares the President Will Lead the South Away From Sectionalism.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 21.—In his characteristic style, Henry Watterson, in a long editorial article, which will be published in the Courier-Journal to-morrow, talks of the visit of the President to the South, and in a general way becomes his champion.

At some length he reviews the causes which led Watterson and the people of the South to entertain a cordial dislike for the strenuous President, these objections arising particularly from the attitude of the President in the Booker Washington incident, the Crum affair and the riding "roughshod over whoever and whatever got in his way."

But, following his election, Mr. Watterson says, a "different Theodore Roosevelt appeared upon the scene; the big stick was laid away, the habiliments of the Rough Rider exchanged for more conventional apparel, etc."

Mr. Watterson characterizes the speech of the President at Lee over the statue of Stonewall Jackson as something equal to anything ever said by Abraham Lincoln. In conclusion, he says:

"The South has wandered forty years through a wilderness of sectionalism for this vision of the promised land of perfect nationality. It has longed for some Messiah of patriotism and brotherhood to rise in the North and to reach out to it the hand of equality having a heart in it. To Theodore Roosevelt this happy lot has fallen."

Senator Green Wanted to Answer to the Charge of Conspiracy to Defraud.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The Supreme Court of the United States today decided that State Senator George E. Green, of New York, must come to Washington for trial on the charge of conspiring with George W. Beavers and others to defraud the government in the purchase of supplies for the Postoffice Department.

ANOTHER EMANCIPATION.

Southern Democracy Has Been Disfranchised in its Own National Conventions.

Daily Industrial News.

The other day Senator Daniel, of Virginia, who is always interesting and often instructive, said that the Southern Democracy had been long enough a mere object of the party in the North, and that the time had now come for Southern Democrats to assert themselves in the party.

A suggestion from us might be considered impertinent, but we will risk it and say amen to Senator Daniel's suggestion.

We will be even more frank and say that this is a selfish wish on our part. For the minute that Southern Democracy cuts loose the string by which it has been led around by the North ever since the civil war, there will be a fairer, a squarer fight upon living issues between the two parties in the South.

That the South is the National Democratic party's most valuable asset none will deny. That the Southern Democrat is almost as completely disfranchised in his own national convention as the negro at the polls few will deny—at least to themselves.

Is this true or is it false? Ask the men who for twenty years have wanted to put a Southern man on the National Democratic ticket and dared not so much as attempt it.

The National Democratic party is vitally interested in keeping the South solidly Democratic, and what is a better way of doing this than by magnifying and distorting and twisting everything done by the Republicans as against the South?

Examine the record and you will find that a great part of the friction between the parties in the South has been fomented by the Northern Democracy for the purpose of keeping the South democratic and docile in the hope of picking up enough electoral votes here and there in the North to elect a Northern Democrat President.

The South did not want to vote for Judge Parker, and did not like his platform, but it surrendered to New York, and did as New York said do both in the matter of candidate and platform. And for what? Again we ask, for what?

As long as the South considers herself an asset of the Northern Democracy held in fee simple, just so long will she fail to rise superior to prejudice and sectionalism. Let the Southern Democrats do as Senator Daniel tells them to do, and think and act for themselves, and demand that the man who pays the fiddler should have the right to name the tune; and political thought, deep, independent thought, will be awakened in the South as never before; and North Carolina Democrats and North Carolina Republicans will fight out their honest differences on political questions.

Fire in Cabarrus—Unsuccessful Attempt to Commit Suicide.

Concord, N. C., Oct. 21.—Dwellings and several outhouses filled with grain and farm produce of W. F. Whitaker, a prosperous and well-to-do farmer of this county, burned this morning at one o'clock.

The barn was the only house saved; insurance $200. Jim Menzie, a young white man, drank two ounces of laudanum yesterday in an attempt at suicide. He was saved by heroic remedies. The only reason given was: "I am tired of living."

Revenue Officers Cut Up Eighty Gallon Still.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 21.—Deputy Collectors Sides, Norman and Hendrix cut up an eighty gallon copper still and destroyed one thousand gallons of beer yesterday morning near Fisher's Peak, ten miles northwest of Mount Airy.

The officers went to the plant at 3 o'clock in the morning and waited there until ten before destroying it, hoping that the owner, Lum Martin, would show up, but he remained away.

Wonderful Power

—OF—

Panopathic Professor Heals

Hopeless Invalids

Health and Strength Restored by This Man, Who Says There Is No Disease He May Not Cure if Timely Treated

MAKES HUMAN HEART BEAT AS BEFORE.

In Body of Woman Threatened With Burial, She States

Gives Services and Course of Home Treatment to the Sick and Afflicted Absolutely Free.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Wallace Hadley, the famous Professor of Panopathy and Physiatrics, has again demonstrated his wonderful power over disease. He has made the human heart beat as before in the body of a woman prepared for the grave and performed other seeming miracles of restoration to health and strength of men and women given up to death. Indeed, he succeeds in the face of such apparent impossibilities that he appears to have a method of treatment unsurpassed by any school of theory of medical practice. Apparently the supposedly incurable diseases, such as paralysis, consumption, heart disease, cancer, deafness, etc., are treated by him as well as the more common disorders of humanity. Going still further, he has proved that he can cure patients in their own homes, thousands of miles away, just as surely as though they came to him in person. To extend the blessing of this wonderful treatment to mankind, there remained but one thing for him to do, and that he has done by offering his services free of charge to all who stand in need. He is quoted as saying that he feels it is his duty to help the sick and afflicted wherever they may be.

One of the cases that makes possible the belief that Professor Hadley's power over disease is most unusual and remarkable is that of a Mr. E. C. Bess, of El Campo, Texas, who says he was rescued from the grave after the doctors had given him up to die. He could do nothing to revive him and left him for dead. Brought to this condition by the combined attack of kidney and liver disease, dropsy and acute articular rheumatism, he suffered the torments of the damned and was about insane with pain before the end came. The doctors in their medicines failed utterly. Another case almost equally remarkable was that of Mrs. J. C. Whitfield, of Norfolk, Va., who asserts that he revived her from a long and desperate illness, a complication of diseases her body felt cold and lifeless. But she says that Professor Hadley made her heart beat as before, the blood flow through her veins once more and warmth returned to her wasted body. Naturally she looks upon her restoration to health as passing understanding. Charles W. Miller, of Columbia Furnace, Va., claims that Professor Hadley saved his life when threatened with a deadly cancer, without the use of a knife or burning. Yet these are simply random instances selected from among the hundreds where Professor Hadley's almost unbelievable power has made the bonds of disease fall away as if they were broken chains and restored health and happiness to suffering men and women.

Naturally, the announcement that a man of such wonderful ability to heal will hereafter give his services and a course of home treatment free to all who ask is most sensational and far-reaching in its effects, since it gives every one throughout the country the poor as well as the rich, an equal opportunity to be cured by availing themselves of this philanthropic offer made by one of the greatest scientists of the age. And it is the more remarkable and fortunate in view of the fact that there is no disease that he may not cure if timely treated.

When questioned in regard to his work for humanity, Professor Hadley said: "Yes, it is true; but I intend to go on curing all those who are ill of any diseases they may have, just as long as I am able. Indeed, were I cured hundreds before, I expect to cure thousands hereafter. I have become convinced that it is my duty to help the sick and afflicted wherever they may be, whoever they are and whatever their circumstances. "But how about those at a distance?" "Distance makes no difference. I can cure those thousands of miles away just as easily as those who come to my office. Letters do just as much good as if I went to them or they came to me." "Do you really mean that any one who is sick can get a free course of treatment?" "Exactly. I mean just that. All that one who is ill from any cause has to do in order to enlist my service is to write me, addressing Wallace Hadley, M. D., office 2011B, No. 2215 Broadway, New York, telling me the disease they suffer from and their principal symptoms and I will give them my services and send them a course of home treatment absolutely free of charge."
